DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments with respect to claim 5 had been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claim 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Yoshioka et al., 6,914,634, in view of Nagano, US 6,952,233.

In regard to claim 5, Yoshioka et al., 6,914,634, discloses the imaging apparatus comprising:

an optical barrel, a fixed barrel being disposed at the a rear side option on an optical axis or said optical barrel (see figure 3, barrel around elements 1, 7, and 8);

an iris (see figure 3, element 7) for adjusting an amount of light passing on said optical axis (see column 4, lines 21-25);

a solid-state image sensor (see figure 3, element 3) disposed at a backside portion on the optical axis of said lens barrel for receiving light passed by said iris (see column 4, lines 21-25), and an electro-chromic device (see figure 3, element 22) provided on said optical axis, and interposed between said iris and said image sensor (see figure 3, elements 3, 7, and 22) for adjusting an amount of infrared electromagnetic wave to be transmitted there through to said image sensor (see column 4, lines 31-53).

The Yoshioka reference does not disclose at least one lens barrel being movable along said optical axis with respect to said fixed barrel.

Nagano, US 6,952,233, discloses an optical unit of an imaging apparatus with transmission amount adjusting means (see figure 1, element 9), provided at a front side portion on an optical axis of said imaging means (see column 6, lines 22-24), a fixed barrel (see figure 1, element 3) disposed at a rear side portion on an optical axis of the optical barrel (see column 6, lines 9-11), at least one lens barrel (see figure 1, element 2) being movable along said optical axis with respect to said fixed barrel (see column 6, lines 7-9), and the imaging means (see figure 1, element 10) is disposed at a backside portion on an optical axis of said lens barrel (see column 6, line 24).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention to have been motivated to modify Yoshioka et al., 6,914,634, in view of Nagano, US 6,952,233, to have at least one lens barrel being movable along said optical axis with respect to said fixed barrel, in order to move the lens into focus to obtain a sharper image.

Conclusion

4. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
